Product Description

BQ-1001--Butterfly chest expansion trainer

The butterfly chest expansion trainer is welded from precision steel pipes and thickened steel plates, with a stable and reliable structure. The surface adopts spraying technology, which has a beautiful and atmospheric appearance and can better prevent rust. The butterfly chest expansion training trajectory was designed by the designer to mimic the butterfly's flying posture and tested by a fitness coach. The trajectory is stable and correct, and can effectively achieve the training goals of the chest muscles. This product uses high-quality steel to make counterweight blocks, with precise weight and smooth sliding. The board cushion is covered with high-quality leather, and the seat height can be adjusted in multiple levels, suitable for users of various heights.
