Product Description

Pilates, stable step chairs, multifunctional shaping instruments, balance chairs

Our company produces Pilates equipment, among which the Pilates stable step chair training equipment can train the whole body, allowing trainers to use a series of movements and auxiliary equipment to help the muscles in the core area better participate in sports. The Pilates stable step chair training also reduces movement injuries and grasps the accuracy of movements. Pilates stable chair training can promote body balance. Through exercise, it can improve the position of the spine, promote health, and balance up, down, left, and right is very important. From a sports perspective, one can re-examine their body and use a combination of multiple exercises to improve posture. One hour of equipment training is equivalent to one hour of equipment training plus one hour of aerobic exercise,
